All Freedom Ryders come fully-equipped from the factory to meet the needs of most riders and all Freedom Ryders are adjustable. This eliminates the need for extensive measurement charts or attempts to custom fit a bike to the rider at the factory. The rider may make his or her own adjustments to our bikes resulting in a truly perfect fit. Because of this feature, the same bike can be used by different riders. We still like to know some basics about the stature of our customers because some riders, although very few, fall outside the adjustment range of our bikes. In this case we are often able to modify our bikes prior to shipment to accommodate these special situations.
